VOTE ON MILLION DOLLAR BOND ISSUE TO BE TAKEN ON MAY 1

Commissioners Decide to Take Proposition Direct to People

CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE MEETS

The Board of County Commissioners unanimously voted Friday to put up to the electors of the county the question of authorizing a bond issue of $1,000,000 for road improvement at a special election to be held on Tuesday, May 1.

The commissioners met in open session with the three members of the Central Citizen's committee of the Good Roads association, J. E. Masters, of Charleroi; Dr. J. N. Sprowls, of Claysville and A. C. Proudfoot, of Burgettstown and the entire question was thoroughly discussed by the commissioners and the others present. J. P. Eagleson, the county solicitor, explained to the members of both the board and the committee what steps would have to be taken in order to put the question of increasing the indebtedness before the voters; also gave a full explanation of the present method of financing the county for construction of roads and reviewed the financial condition of the county. Chief Clerk H. R. Campbell, also had figures at hand showing the county's valuation and the estimated cost of holding a special election.

It was agreed by all those present that the question before the commissioners was not whether they should put the million dollar bond issue proposal up to the people, but whether or not this should be done at a special election or at the general election in November. It was pointed out that at the general election the voters would be called upon to vote for precinct, township, and borough officials, for county officials and a nonpartisan ballot for judge and that the proposal for a bond issue would make four distinct issues on the ballot before the voters.

The sentiment expressed at the general meeting of citizens a few weeks ago, that the bond issue ought to be kept out of politics, and, therefore, should be decided at a special election, was also pointed out as a reason for having the vote on it at a time when no other issues would be before the people.

On motion of A. P. Barnum, seconded by John Watson, the first Tuesday of May, the first, was set for the special election, Messrs Hill, Barnum and Watson all voting for the motion although Commissioner Hill had expressed himself in the discussion as being opposed to the measure, but willing to submit the issue to the voters for their ultimate verdict.

The county solicitor and clerk were authorized, under the motion to proceed at once in the preparation of the necessary papers and to take whatever action is called for to hold the election on the first day of May. The county solicitor will meet with one or all the members of the Good Roads association committee for the purpose of drafting an agreement which will provide for the active participation of this citizen's committee in the letting of the contracts and for consultation with them as to the entire policy of road improvement if the bond issue should be approved by the people.

Mr. Watson, president of the Board

FARMERS TO TAKE UP POTATO RAISING ON EXTENSIVE SCALE

Extensive Preparations Being Made For Planting Large Spring Crops
—Truck Gardening Popular

Farmers coming from the surrounding country report that a great deal more land is being prepared for tillage this year than there has been in the past. Fence corners are being derided of branches and briars they say, swampy places are being drained, and in places pasture fields are being placed in readiness for ploughing as soon as the weather permits.

Reports also show that truck gardening will be followed on a more extensive scale. Nearly all the farmers declare that they will plant many more potatoes this year than they have planted previously.

FRICK SHIPPING COKE BY RIVER

First Shipment From the Ronco Mine Near Brownsville Passes Down Stream

SIGNAL TOWER AT THE MINE

The first shipments of coke on the Monongahela river by H. C. Frick Coke company went down river this week from Ronco near Brownsville to Pittsburgh. Large barges with slatted sides built specially for the H. C. Frick company for conveying coke by water, will be used from now on in hauling the coke. A signal tower has been erected at the river. A cross-over on the Monongahela Railway company tracks has been made and two dinky engines will carry the coke from Ronco and dump it in the barges on the river.

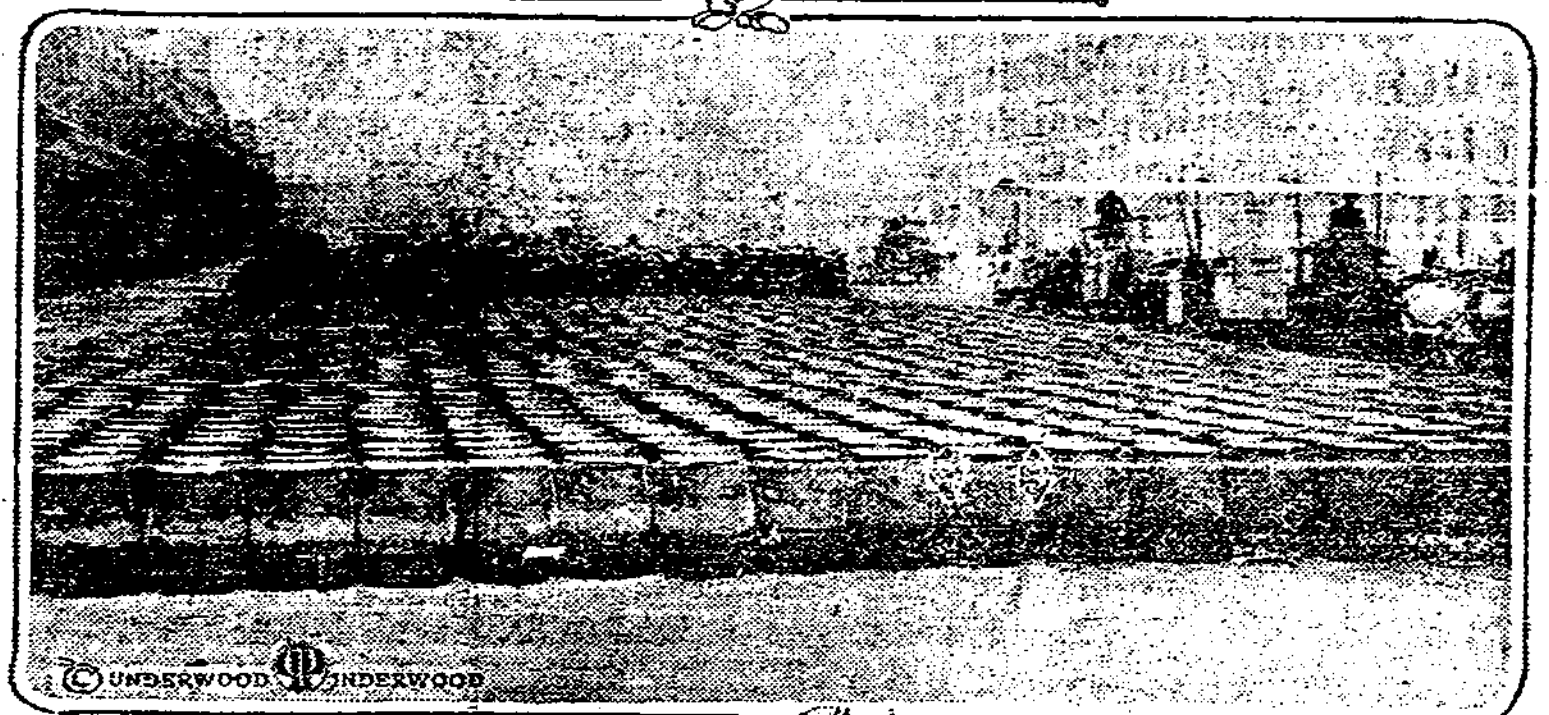

This new mode of shipment promises to make the river traffic heavier than ever before. Other plants are preparing to ship their coke by river if the experiment of the Frick company proves a success. It means more work for the men in the coal field who have been held out of work on account of the car shortage. W. Harry Brown has been shipping coke from his Alicia mines for some weeks.

It is understood the Frick company is preparing to send the output of other works to the river and convey it to the steel mill near Pittsburgh.

BOYS' CLASS TENDERED BANQUET BY GIRLS CLASS

Members of the class of girls taught by Mrs. Elmer Small of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school banquetted the boys of C. E. Fisher's class in the Sunday school room of the church Thursday evening. A section of the Sunday school was screened off. Games and music were enjoyed during the evening. Rev. C. A. Hartung, church pastor, gave a talk.

Armed Merchant Ships is Solution of this Shipping Problem

It would be difficult for the lay mind to realize what a tie-up in shipping means to New York. This glimpse of the West Side along the Hudson river, just north of the Cunard piers, gives only an idea of the congestion. There are miles of vistas of this sort, where, figuratively, there are mountains of freight ready for shipment to European countries. These barrels are filled with cottonseed oil. Since the resumption of ruthless submarine warfare trans-Atlantic commerce has been paralyzed. The merchandise waiting transfer overseas represents millions. The congestion is daily becoming more serious in Atlantic seaports as President Wilson urges the passage of the "armed neutrality" measure.

George Dagnall now Inmate

WAS IN SOME OF WORST FIGHTING

George Dagnall, formerly of Oakland avenue, Charleroi, is now an inmate of an army hospital in London, having been wounded in an engagement "somewhere in France." He participated as a member of the 46th Canadian regiment in some of the hardest fighting of the war, having been at Ypres, Somme and Vimy Ridge. In a letter under date of February 20 to Charles R. Trew, a local real estate agent, he says:

"You will be surprised to hear from me but as I have the time I thought I would write you. I am in a hospital in the South of England having been wounded in the left hand. I was in the firing line for seven months which seemed like seven years. I was very lucky having quite a few narrow escapes. Hans is a crafty gink but the biggest coward that ever lived. He will fight till you get within a few yards of him then throw up his hands and is very happy when taken prisoner. I was at Ypres, Somme and Vimy Ridge. The last named place is where the French lost 70,000 in taking the ridge. Just imagine charging up the hill at East Charleroi, the Germans on top with their machine guns, just playing the duce and it will give you an idea of what they had to face.

"I have seen some awful sights. There are places where the military have put wire fences around spots where there are scores of women and

BURGLARS MAKE GOOD HAUL IN VISIT TO FIVE ROSCOE PLACES

Forty-Five Dollars Taken
From Roscoe Hotel—More
Secured Elsewhere

ENTRANCE MADE THROUGH WINDOWS

Burglars broke into five places in Roscoe some time during Friday night and got away without enough booty to pay them for their trouble. The best haul was made at the Roscoe hotel, where A. H. Furlong, formerly of Charleroi, is proprietor and manager. By looting three cash registers they secured $45.

Nothing was missed at the grocery store of Seth Thomas into which the burglars forced their way by breaking a window. From there it seemed they went to the Roscoe hotel. At the Central hotel entrance was made in the usual way by cracking a window. Nothing was missed. The burglars had access to $4 in pennies, but left them on a table as though too heavy to carry. Entrance to the fruit store of C. Polizzi was made through a window, but nothing of consequence damaged. At the drug store of Fred Allison about $20 was taken. There is no trace of the burglars.

White lived in Monessen. He is survived by his widow but it is understood no children.

Three Anti-Saloon league speakers will invade Charleroi tomorrow in the interests of the campaign against the liquor traffic now being conducted by the league. Addresses will be given from different church pulpits.

The speakers will be Rev. H. M. Chalfant, Pennsylvania editor of the American Issue, Rev. Dr. Homer W. Tope, superintendent of the Philadelphia District in the Anti-Saloon work and Rev. Dr. R. A. Hutchinson, secretary of the Home Mission Board of the United Presbyterian church.

church. Dr. Hutchinson will speak morning at the First Baptist church in the Majestic theatre, and evening in the First Christian church.

Probably the best known of the speakers sent her is Rev. Chalfant, who is a native of this community. His anti-saloon work began when he as a student of Washington and Jefferson college appeared on the witness stand to defeat the first Charleroi liquor license application. Ever since he has been in close touch with the Anti-Saloon league work over a large territory and a man well qualified to speak on the subject. He is considered one of the ablest members of the staff.

Dr. Tope is one of the best known men engaged in Anti-Saloon work in the east having been identified with the movement actively for many years.

Mrs. Herbert Steinman of Brownsville is visiting with her parents Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Vetter of Fallsfield avenue.

WHAT KEEPS UP PRICES

While, by the enforcement of good laws, we may reduce the speculative feature and cause some improvement in regulation of prices, the fact still remains that even the natural causes under present conditions and those to be expected, will of necessity keep up the prices of food beyond anything we have experienced for years, says the State health department, in a statement just issued.

Now in the face of the possibility that we will be at war ourselves, we must look the fact in the face that men will be diverted more and more from farming to those occupations necessary to prepare and maintain the national defense. It also behooves us to think deeply and take stock of matters that relate to our food supply since day by day in the papers we have seen what this question means, not only to the fighting armies but to the nations behind them.

We shall refer to this subject from time to time in these little talks issued by the State Department of Health of Pennsylvania. Certain food stuffs will be spoken of and their comparative value approximately estimated.

The potato is at present the most advertised vegetable we have. Its consumption far exceeds any other vegetable made up of a large proportion of starch. Let us consider the claims of the potato to the high dignity that has suddenly been thrust upon it.

The human digestive system is limited in its power to digest properly large quantities of starch. Americans have made general use of starchy foods and this practice is playing its part in checking the natural growth of our people, both in mind and in body.

The excessive eating of potatoes, so often taken at a meal simply as a matter of habit when there are other starchy foods and sugar in the meal to supply the same want, causes a catarrhal condition of the digestive system, thereby preventing the normal working of the glands of digestion. Gradually a diseased condition of the organs of digestion results and this prevents nature's process of preparing food for assimilation. Consequently the system has to absorb the waste products and a gradual starvation and poisoning is the result. The catarrhal patient, in addition, gradually loses resistance to germ diseases.

From babyhood and childhood up, we Americans indulge in an excess of starchy foods. A well-rounded diet demands starch along with meat and fat, of course, but we indulge in an excess of starch and the habit often continues through adult life.

Raw potatoes contain 80 percent of water, and in skinning and frying we lose on an average about 10 percent of the raw potato. The baking of potatoes causes less loss and produces the most wholesome preparation for human consumption that can be made of the vegetable.

What does this suggest with the potato in the limelight and its cost out of all proportion to its real value? The answer is that its use can not only be cut down to a normal proportion of the diet for those who like its taste, but it can be entirely replaced by other foodstuffs which would supply starch in even greater quantities.

Potatoes have 18 parts to the hundred of starch and sugar (carbohydrates): jellies and marmalades, 60 to 90 parts; rice, 79; buckwheat and barley, 77; hominy, 76; cracked wheat, 75; macaroni and spaghetti, 74; raisins, 68; oatmeal, 67; corn, 66; peas, 60; bread, 50 to 60; chocolate, 30; canned peas, 9; dried peas, 62.

In raisins the carbohydrates are mostly of the soluble variety known as sugars. In all the other foods mentioned the carbohydrates present is mainly starch.

With these things in mind it is not hard to think of the potato being knocked off its pedestal.

COMMUNITY SUFFERS LOSS

Through death Charlie of this week suffered the loss of another of its well known business men, who had been associated with the business life of the community for near a score of years. This was Franklin Perce McCloskey who succumbed to illness of long duration four weeks after the death of his wife at their home on Crest avenue and Sixth street.

It is not the peculiar coincidence of time in the death of Mr. McCloskey and his wife that has saddened the hearts of those who knew them best. It is the esteem and love in which they were held, and the loss which the community naturally feels.

Mr. McCloskey was an able business man. He was a busy business man during his active years, and yet not too busy to give attention to outside deeds of helpfulness. He was a good citizen and one well worthy of the respect and admiration in which he was held.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

PUT HIM TO WORK

In these days when help is so scarce, everyone should go to work. When any strain in our population is non-productive, something is wrong. These remarks were suggested by reading an address by General R. H. Pratt, for 25 years head of the Carlisle school for Indians. Gen. Pratt condemns the United States policy of holding the Indians on reservations and consequently pauperizing them.

This speaker presented figures showing earnings of 25,000 Indians, averaging less than $4,000 a month. Thousands of them were flitting away on little crafts like baskets and bead making. Meanwhile the farms are crying aloud for workers.

The red man has a reputation of indolence. Many employers would say they would not have a man with Indian blood about the place. Yet many thousands of them are doing well as stock raisers, which is not an idle and easy occupation.

One of the principal reasons for high cost foods is the scarcity of workers and the high cost of farm help. The Indian population is not large. But if all these semi-idle Indians of whom Gen. Pratt speaks could have been trained for real work, it would have helped labor shortage in several states.

The Indian was strained to endure sharp pain without flinching. A creature who can bear suffering ought to be able to work and could if he were trained to do it. Furthermore, the Indian race was never enslaved or reduced to servitude. That indicated a certain resolve and iron quality in the blood. It is no wonder the Indian would not work when so many times he was simply kept on a reservation and fed on the government rations. The idleness was physically enfeebling and was one reason why the race has not held its own in population. The many Indians who already have learned to live normal lives will no doubt show themselves able to increase and multiply and furnish their share of industrious labor—Exchange.

WE PAY THE FREIGHT.

The food barons are bound to get us either "going or coming." In New York, where the housewives league made such a fight against the exorbitant price of vegetables that the dealers were ready to capitulate, the food speculators are now turning their attention from the vegetable to canned goods.

Reports from the metropolis say that these latter goods have gone up within the past few days from 4 to 9 cents a can, which is some advance when you come to figure it up. The incident, however, only goes to prove that a coterie of speculators are operating extensively throughout the country and if they cannot get the public on the vegetable end of the argument they will in some other department.

The price of hogs, likewise, has reached the highest figure ever quoted in the United States and livestock dealers say they will go even higher. This may be true—it is also suspicious for why should hogs, any more than canned goods, make such an advance within the past few days, unless at the behest of speculators, who are in a position to manipulate the market.

We have had investigations, and others promised, but so far without any apparent results—at least with no benefit to the public at large, which is compelled to stand the brunt of the expense when it comes to "paying the freight."

There is an abundance of foodstuff in the United States and there should be no such advance in prices as we are suffering from today. We are at prices, but we are paying high prices in many cases than the people who are engaged in the greatest war of all history. It is a queer situation, but it exists just the same, to the disadvantage of the people at large.—Donora Herald.

IN AN ANDEAN CAPITAL

They Have Queer Ideas About Bathing Places in Colombia.

Bogota, capital of the Colombian province of Tolima, claims 2,300 souls, but the count takes much for granted. It is a square cornered town of almost wholly thatched one story buildings, its wide streets atrociously cobbled and its few sidewalks worn perilously slippery and barely wide enough for two feet at once.

A stream of crystal clear water gurgles down every street through cobbled gutters, lulling the travel weary to sleep and furnishing a convenient means of washing photographic films. We drank less often, however, after we had strolled up to the end of the mountain and found three none too handsome ladies bathing in the reservoir.

It is a peaceful, roomy place where every one has unlimited space on the grassy, gentle slope to put up his little chalky, straw roofed cottage, yet all too the street line as if fearful of missing anything that might unexpectedly pass. Foreigners seem to be a great novelty, and I could find no satisfactory reason why so many Bogotanos were blind unless they had overindulged themselves in the national game of staring.—Harry A. Frank in Century Magazine.

Red Foxes Mate For Life.

Since the days of Aesop's fables tales of foxes and their doings have had their place in literature as well as in the folk lore of the countryside. Many of their amazing wiles to outwit pursuers or to capture their prey give evidence of extraordinary mental powers. Their bill of fare includes many items, such as mice, birds, reptiles, insects, many kinds of fruits and on rare occasions a chicken.

Red foxes, apparently pair for life and occupy dens dug by themselves in a secluded knoll or among rocks. These dens, which sometimes are occupied for years in succession, always have two or more entrances opening in opposite directions, so that an enemy entering on one side may be eluded readily. The young, numbering up to eight or nine, are tenderly cared for by both parents.—National Geographic Magazine.

Miss Anne Morgan, Friend of American Working Girls

The altruistic and patriotic work of Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of a great American financier and descendant of an American poet, has come to the public notice many times in the past few years. She appears now as the head of an American circus which the 35,000 young women members of the Vacation Association are giving at Madison Square Garden, New York, for the purpose of raising funds to defray the vacation expenses of working girls during the coming summer.

"Nothing worth while can be accomplished without sacrifice. Every one of the girls in the circus has been rehearsing for weeks, still doing her work every day."

While Miss Morgan is deeply interested in the well-being of her less fortunate sisters, she is also an ardent advocate of patriotism among her sex.

"There is too much talk about patriotism," she avers, "and too little real patriotism. We have too much respect for words. We think we have accomplished something when, as a matter of fact, we have only talked about it. We need more unity of vision—more democracy. The women who are patriots are, in my opinion, prepared. They are the groups that have been working quietly.

"But the great difficulty is in holding women. Everyone of them is willing to learn to be a nurse or to run a motor ambulance, or to do other things she may never be required to do. But when it comes to giving so many hours to work that must be done now, many find they have no time. We are trying to teach girls that they can spend their time profitably by devoting themselves to some definite purpose. In our vacation work we have had a fair success. The purpose of our association is not only to encourage girls to save for a vacation, but to prepare them for a vacation—to make them real patriots."

A First Showing of the New Dress Silks for Spring

Silks are destined to be as popular as ever this season. The early season demand has been great and manufacturers have been kept busy furnishing new designs. Our showing of silks was never more comprehensive. We have a splendid line of all kinds and all colors.

"Shadow Lawn" is the name of a new green shade. It is a light, misty alluring tone that proves very attractive. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson graciously permitted a silk firm to make use of the name.

The taffetas vie with satins. Natural colored tussah silks are much in evidence and bid fair to become the sensation of the season.

The popular colors in Crepe and Taffeta are navy, taupe, grey, tan, old gold, and rose. We also have a wonderful selection of regimental and Roman stripe taffetas with several combinations of Burgundy and gray. Small Chinese and Oriental designs will also predominate in silk fashions this Spring.

These designs, unique, refreshing and style favored, will meet with popular approval, we feel sure. Be sure to see them before all are sold.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING PLANS ARE ACCEPTED

Architect Brenton Completes Plans

For by April 3—One Ordinance is Passed

Plans and specifications prepared for the new proposed Charleroi municipal building by Architect J. C. Brenton were accepted by council at a special meeting Friday night in the council chambers. This was the business of chief importance taken up and the purpose of the meeting. Bids are being asked, to be submitted by April 3.

An ordinance granting permission to John H. Reed to install and maintain platform scales along Lincoln avenue extension passed final reading and was made ready for the signature of the burgess.

TELEPHONE SYSTEM TO ORGANIZE RADIO MEN FOR WAR NEED

Local Bell telephone men are interested in the recruiting of signal corps and signal corps units of employees skilled in the technical work of wire and radio communication, for use in case of government need. The Bell System has already offered its services to the government. The various Bell companies are now proceeding with the tentative organization of these various units, which will have their headquarters in 12 or 15 of the largest cities and will be officered by Bell engineers and constructors, whose commissions are now being applied for. In Pennsylvania there will be a battalion composed of two "telegraph companies"—so-called—each about 80 men. Headquarters of one will be at Pittsburgh and the other in Philadelphia. Around this nucleus will be built an increasing force as conditions make practical.

Explaining the term "telegraph companies," the United States Signal Corps is now organized to comprise a number of wire companies, radio companies and telegraph companies. The wire company is a body of approximately 75 men, mostly mounted, to provide lines under tactical operations. Its business, using its available wire—usually about 3 miles is carried—is to leave a trail of communication. The radio company also moves in tactical operations, being composed of the same number of men and using portable radio apparatus with a range of approximately 25 miles. The telegraph company is able wire—usually about 35 miles is available.

With the organization of reserves of Bell Employees, work of training will be undertaken at once. Men will be called to summer camps this year probably, either at Plattsburg or at similar centers.

HENDERSON AND PINCHOT TRAINED TO PERFECTION FOR THEIR MILL TONIGHT

Marty Henderson and Young Pincho are trained to perfection at 116 pounds for their bout tonight at the Charleroi rink. Neither of the two favorites are much used to main bouts yet, but both are comers and valley fight fans could not be better pleased than with the billing of these two. Their fight will be for ten rounds.

Tommy Phillips of the Northside and Joe Larue of Charleroi will appear in the semi final, an attraction hardly less important than the final. This affair will be timed to eight rounds. In the preliminary will be presented Chris Dilla of Castle Shannon and Johnny McCoy of the Northside.

children that the Germans drove before them to prevent the troops from firing. But its all out for Fritz. Of course it will take some time yet but as the nigger said "he done gone." There are lots of things I would like to tell you but of course it's against the orders.

"I see that Wilson is getting tired of sending notes. I might state that my family is well and I made a good move when I went to Canada. Of course, Charleroi will always be home to me. Please remember me to all friends. If I get through this job I might visit the old spot. I might say that I have seen more rain in France in 7 months than I ever saw in Charleroi in 7 years, and it's the rain that has saved the Germans. You see that the heavy guns cannot be moved for the ground is all torn up with shell holes. I will close now, wishing you all the best."

VOTE ON MILLION

of Commissioners, speaking for himself, but also voicing the sentiments as expressed by the entire board, said that if the voters authorized the expenditure of a million dollars for road improvement, the board did not contemplate the expenditure of this sum all at one time, but over a period of years; that if conditions were found to be unfavorable either to the selling of the bonds or of building roads the coming summer, due to war conditions and high prices of materials and labor, that they would await a more favorable time; that they would not spend one cent of the taxpayers' money, if it were found that it could not be done so as to give the taxpayers the very best returns for their money.

"This is a proposition," said Mr. Watson, "for the taxpayers. The commissioners are only their servants and want to do their will. The people can pass the bond issue or defeat it. But if they pass it, they can rest assured their act as one of preparedness—making the money available for them to spend either for county roads or jointly with the state and the townships, but by the plan that will give the people the most for their money."

IDENTITY OF WRITER PROTECTED BY COURT

That no newspapers can be forced to disclose the source of its information concerning articles it publishes and that no one can be forced to tell who wrote the article, was the ruling made by Judge Baldwin of the circuit court in Chicago.

The decision came when attorneys for garment manufacturers attempted to trace the authorship of a story ascribed to Ben Schlesinger, president of the Garment Workers' union, in regard to the Chicago garment workers' strike.

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA DESCRIBE CUBAN TRAVELS

Lutellus Dawson of Charleroi And Walter Ritchey Speak of Trouble Cuba is Experiencing

A letter has been received from Lutellus Dawson of Charleroi, and Walter Ritchey of Uniontown, who have been traveling in the South. The letter is dated Feb. 27, at Havana, Cuba. They speak very highly of the climate, parks, band concerts and hotel accommodations. Other interesting things is the growing of sugar cane, tropical fruits and tobacco plantations and the sight of old forts and fine cathedrals. In their travels they are held up on all roads by soldiers. Much fighting has been going on. Havana has 6,000 saloons, this being about one saloon for every 600 people. The president keeps 100 soldiers in his mansion and 2,000 nearby at all times now. They saw where the Maine was blown up. No one is permitted to visit Moro Castle. Funerals are attended only by men. The corpse is carried on the shoulders of men or in a hearse to which are hitched from two to 12 horses, depending on the wealth of the deceased. All burials are in vaults above ground.

BOYS GIVEN WARNING NOT TO KILL BIRDS

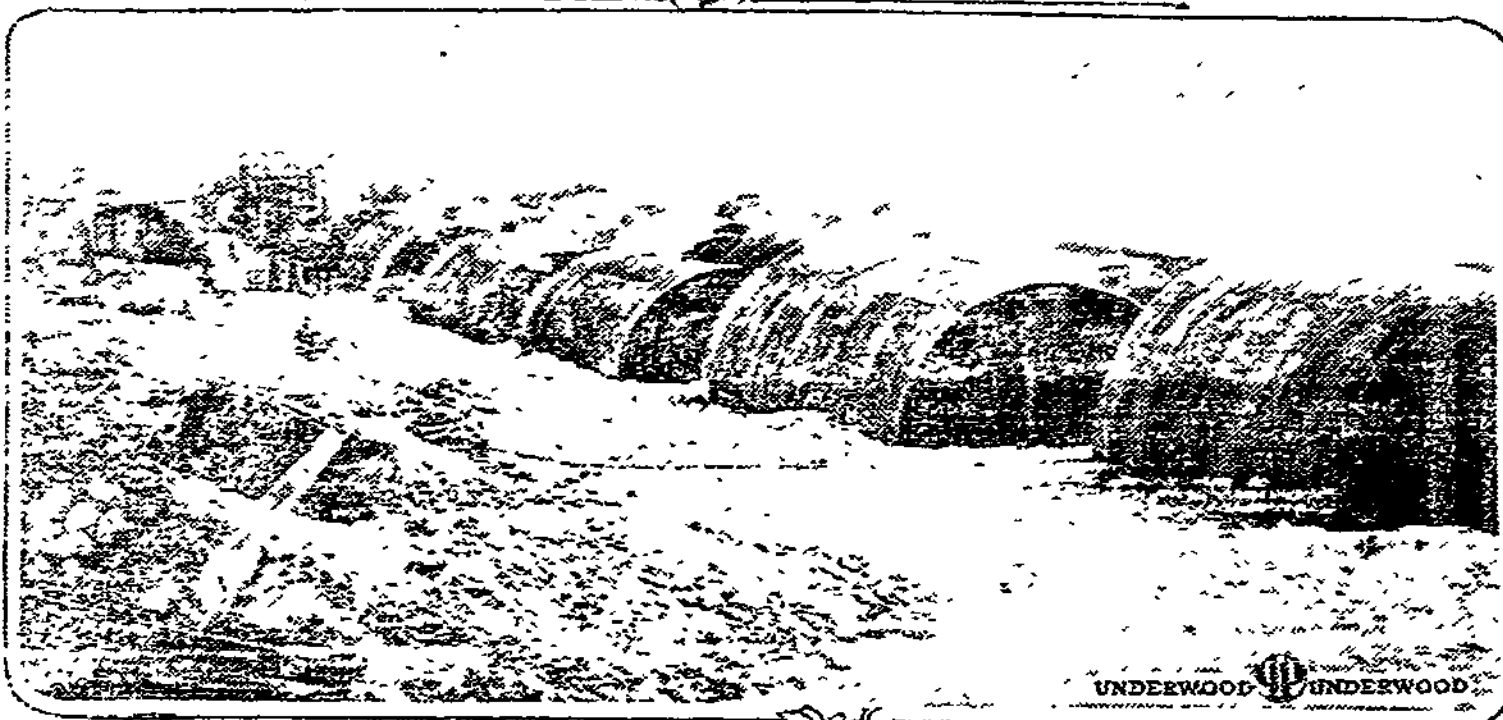

The Western Pennsylvania Humane society has issued a warning to boys who have been killing birds with air rifles, that needless killing of birds is prohibited by law and that the society will prosecute all who may be found engaged in this practice.

The humane society recently received a letter from a woman of the Pittsburg district, stating that boys have been canvassing homes in that vicinity selling posters with the idea of using the proceeds to buy air rifles to kill the birds. The writer said the boys in that vicinity were active in slaying birds all during last summer.

REV. CUNNINGHAM DIES IN CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND.

Word was received in Monongahela Friday of the death of the Rev. Albert F. Cunningham, former pastor of the First Christian church of Monongahela, at his home in Crawfordsville, Ind. He had been ill of a nervous breakdown for the past three years, being in fact forced to give up his pastorate at Monongahela after a successful two years' ministry, because of ill health. Interment was in Crawfordsville. His wife, one son and one daughter, Mrs. Edgar Leyda, survive. Rev. Cunningham was born in Lafayette, Ind., May 4, 1844, and held various charges in the east before coming to the Monongahela valley.

With name of Nissen means a great deal to the British Tommies on the western front in these trying days of a winter—and winter. It is the cognomen of a British officer who invented the huts pictured here. They have made it possible for the fighters to enjoy real comfort after the day's fighting in the trenches. The Tommies have a song they sing about these snug little huts.

Here's Charleroi testimony.
Mrs. W. McBride, 705 Crest avenue, Charleroi, says: "One of the family was in misery from dull pains in the back. Doan's Kidney Pills were used and they brought great benefit. Later there was a return of the old trouble and less than one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Piper Bros' Drug Store, removed the pain in the back and there has been no suffering since. We think there is nothing equal to Doan's Kidney Pills."
